Article Guidelines for AOTMP® Insights

Here are a few tips to help you develop your article idea and write your draft:

Think Industry Professional. Make sure your topic speaks to the industry professional. If the topic affects all types of organizations, focus on how it applies specifically in the context of Telecom, Mobility, and IT Management. Every company is different, but many of their challenges are the same. How does your story offer lessons that can be applied to everyone?

Write from your experience. Choose a topic you feel comfortable talking about. Think about recent challenges you have faced and solutions you have applied. Note the highlights: the people and resources involved, the hurdles you overcame, the measures you used to evaluate success, and the lessons you learned.

Make it practical and informative. Include sufficient how-to information and examples to enable readers to apply your expertise to their situations. Provide links to further information, and, if appropriate, include images, charts, video, or other media to enhance the content.

Don't be promotional. We welcome submissions by industry partners. However, AOTMP® Insights does not publish articles that focus primarily on an author's company, product, or service.

Be concise. For today's busy reader, AOTMP® Insights is direct, conversational, and brief. Keep background information to a minimum. Convey the essentials that readers need to know to follow in your footsteps. Articles typically run 750-1,000 words.
